GCOMM - the biggest HSI Project to date:

The Global Consultation on Music and Missions to be held July 11-15 at Bethel University, St. Paul, MN will bring together the largest team ever of HSI personnel, and will become the most comprehensive activity of our seven year history. The team will be overseeing the following:

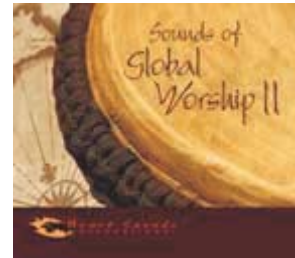

HSI Exhibit: Dileep Ratnaike will lead the team that will oversee the HSI exhibit. Assisted by Jolene Wilson and Marj Garrean, this display will be a beehive of activity. The interactive exhibit will include listening stations to preview and order our recording projects over the years, a video station and a PowerPoint presentation. Several recently published materials will be dispensed freely. The exhibit will also have the just-released "Sounds of Global Worship II" compilation recording for sale.

Seminars: Ken Davidson, Chuck Oakley and Paul Neeley will lead seminars related to audio, video, and global worship. Additionally, Paul will oversee the organization of the GCoMM special breakouts by topical and regional interest.

Worship: Paul Neeley will be one of the percussionists in the world praise band that will lead most of the worship times. A special feature of the worship at GCoMM we will be singing a majority of songs in original languages of non-western origin.

Media: Ken Davidson, Chuck Oakley will videotape the plenary sessions and prepare video interviews of global worship leaders. Dileep Ratnaik will photograph the event.

MC: Frank Fortunato will be one of the two co-MCs for the plenary sessions.

Bookstore: Frank also leads the team overseeing all the details of the extensive conference bookstore that includes more than 400 titles that will be available for sale at the event.

Thank you for standing with us in daily prayer from July 11-15 for this thrilling event.

HSI: helping ignite worship, especially in places where Christ followers are restricted, persecuted or unknown.
